

News Training CPD Standards Login

Column:

On the Brink
Natural Environment

Farah Naz
Climate Change and Innovation
Strategist for Cities
WBEF Columnist

rics.org/wbef #WBEF

On the brink

We are delighted to announce that Farah Naz is our new Natural Environment columnist. Farah is a sustainability expert based in Dubai. This month she writes about the global challenge of declining urban air quality and its links to climate change.

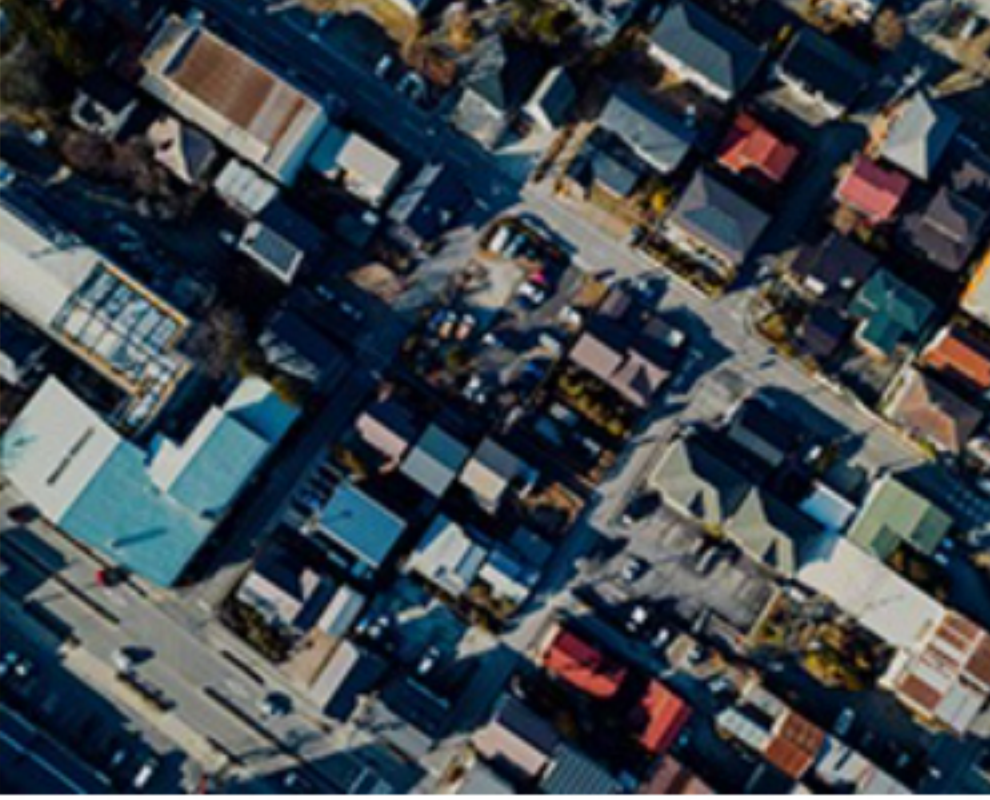

Read more

WBEF: April highlights

Central banks wrestle with a green dilemma

Find out more

Communities shaping their built environment

Discover more

Can public transport recover from COVID-19?

Read more

The world needs better infrastructure

The GI Hub Infrastructure Stakeholder Survey closes this week. It’s anonymous, open to everyone, and takes about 10 minutes to complete.

Complete the survey

What are the big issues that you want to hear about?

Have something you want us to cover? Are there big issues that you think we should be talking about? WBEF is the built and natural environment’s forum for the future. If you have an idea for a piece that we should be thinking about, contact Kay Pitman.